Lower Your Heart Disease Risk by 31%

Approved by the FDA in 2023, LODOCO (colchicine) tablets became the first anti-inflammatory medication that can reduce the risk of cardiovascular events.

Studies have demonstrated that LODOCO (low-dose colchicine) can reduce the risk of heart issues by 31% compared to a placebo, when added to standard therapy for coronary artery disease.

Heart Disease & Inflammation

Atherosclerosis, characterized by plaques in the artery walls, is not merely about the accumulation of cholesterol but also involves an ongoing inflammatory response. White blood cells (leukocytes) infiltrate the artery walls and release substances that can further exacerbate inflammation and contribute to plaque instability.

LODOCO interferes with the activation, migration, and proliferation of leukocytes to the site of inflammation. By doing so, it reduces the inflammatory response associated with the development and progression of atherosclerotic plaques.

Marley Drug makes accessing LODOCO easy through our partnership with the manufacturer, AGEPHA Pharma.
